What is native advertising? THE NEW BUZZ-WORD

- Advertising that gives the same organic experience as own content in the media.
- Part of content marketing or vice versa
 - medium specific advertising
 - natural content that is not experienced as direct ad message.
 - However, it is always "bought" advertising.
- Important to be part of the media's own identity. Equally important is that the consumer knows who sends the message.
- When successful, native advertising brings a totally new efficiency area to advertising.
